

50 thousand dollars is a pretty fair county road fund for the year.

TREBANE-CITIZEN.
VOL. 26, NO. 56.

© 1915

ALBUQUERQUE, NEW MEXICO, THURSDAY, OCTOBER 21, 1915.

THE EVENING HERALD
VOL. 5, NO. 178.

GREECE MUST FISH OR CUT BAIT ANNOUNCEMENT OF ALLIED DIPLOMATS

Won't Lay Down His Sword While In Slavery

King Albert of Belgium Returns Definite Refusal to Proposal of Pope Benedict That He Move for Peace.

By Evening Herald Leased Wire.
Rome, Oct. 21, 10:30 a. m. (CET).—Although official confirmation is still lacking of the report that Great Britain has offered Cyprus to Turkey in return for her neutrality, with certain, it is asserted, contingencies so important in London that this offer has been made.

England Offers Cyprus as a Bribe for Joining Allies, and at Same Time Sends Grave Threats.

SERBIAN ARMY ON VERGE OF DISASTER

Hard Pressed on Three Sides There Seems Little Chance of Utter Annihilation, Says Paris Dispatch.

By Evening Herald Leased Wire.
London, Oct. 21, 10:30 a. m.—Although official confirmation is still lacking of the report that Great Britain has offered Cyprus to Turkey in return for her neutrality, with certain, it is asserted, contingencies so important in London that this offer has been made.

London, Oct. 21, 10:30 a. m.—The Serbs' powers are bringing all their resources to bear on three sides in order to effect an overwhelming defeat of her policy toward the other Balkan states and the European neutrals. They have intimated clearly that on account of the geographical position of Greece and her neutrality, it is difficult, if not impossible to maintain.

It has become a question in the opinion of the allied diplomats of not permitting Greece to continue what is considered an ambitious policy until their opponents in the war are unable to utilize the neutral position of Greece to their own advantage.

The Greek government is now negotiating for British control of the island of Cyprus, which, according to an Athens message, Britain will end immediately on condition that Greece joins the allies. The Russian foreign minister, M. Savchenko, has issued a statement that he considers the allies justified in adopting any measures to prevent their enemies from taking advantage of the neutral position of a third power.

The heads of the allies already have established a close blockade of the Aegean coast of Bulgaria.

It has not been established whether the Bulgarians have occupied Varna on the Nesebar-Bulgaria railroad. It is a fact notwithstanding that railroad communication between Sofia and Bulgaria has been interrupted, and if the railroads have not actually crossed the line, they have at least advanced far enough to interrupt traffic which accomplishes the same purpose.

The principal pressure on Serbia is now coming from the Bulgarian side.

The two outstanding features on the western front are the continual offensive of the French south of the Pyrenees and the new German offensive north of Riga. In the latter direction the Germans are making a more determined effort to force the Danube.

In the southern area the Austro-Hungarian line from Punk in Transylvania to the Niemeyer bridge is no longer held securely. Except for minor details of the Austrian-German success in the region of Batzova, resulting in the capture of several German positions, 3,500 men and 100 long guns, and one piece of artillery, was annihilated today by the war office.

RUSSIA REPORTS IMPORTANT VICTORY NEAR BARANOVICH

Paris, Oct. 21, 10:30 a. m.—A bold statement issued yesterday by Soviet authorities, said that the Russian army had been completely victorious. The soldiers were reported to have taken the railway line from Baranovitch to the west.

The communists called

"The situation grows more and more serious." The cessation of the Russian troops is disastrous and no good can be done by the strong presence of the Allies and the Russians from the east or masses of Russians from the west to assist the German army which has now cut off from Moscow. The result is that the communists are isolated.

The soldiers in the north had to fight hard. Although the Poles and the Anglos-Français line and the right bank of the Vistula, on the eastern front they hold the Warsaw-Kalisz-Poznan-Vilna line, but the Germans have taken the town of Vilna and Vilna, cutting the line to Warsaw in two places.

This establishes the fact that the Germans have captured the important railway town of Vilna, by which there has been some doubt.

GERMANS CONTINUE VIOLENT ATTACKS EAST OF RHEIMS

Paris, Oct. 21, 10:30 a. m.—Following their futile bombardment last evening to the east of Rheims, the Germans renewed their attacks in this region according to an announcement made this afternoon by the

The Evening Herald

STILL that splendid 1925 battle fleet wouldn't help much right now.

TWELVE PAGES TODAY.

A FORMIDABLE PICTURE OF U. S. NAVY IN YEAR 1915

If Administration's Defense Program Is Carried Out This Nation Will Have Strongest Navy in World.

PARTY LINES WIPE OUT IN CONGRESS ON ISSUE

Democratic Leaders, Gathering to Consider Support for Program, Expect Help From All Faculties.

By Evening Herald Leased Wire.

Washington, Oct. 21.—What the United States navy will be in 1925 if the administration's defense program is approved as originally was desired today by naval experts. The figures of the "Mshak" are based on the estimate of the Armenian patriarch at Constantinople that of the 1,200,000 Armenian inhabitants of Turkey before the war, there remain not more than 200,000. The residue, the "Mshak" says, may disappear before the end of the war on account of the Turkish policy of extermination.

The figures of the "Mshak" are based on the estimate of the Armenian patriarch at Constantinople that of the 1,200,000 Armenian inhabitants of Turkey before the war, there remain not more than 200,000. The residue, the "Mshak" says, may disappear before the end of the war on account of the Turkish policy of extermination.

The figures of the "Mshak" are based on the estimate of the Armenian patriarch at Constantinople that of the 1,200,000 Armenian inhabitants of Turkey before the war, there remain not more than 200,000. The residue, the "Mshak" says, may disappear before the end of the war on account of the Turkish policy of extermination.

The figures of the "Mshak" are based on the estimate of the Armenian patriarch at Constantinople that of the 1,200,000 Armenian inhabitants of Turkey before the war, there remain not more than 200,000. The residue, the "Mshak" says, may disappear before the end of the war on account of the Turkish policy of extermination.

The figures of the "Mshak" are based on the estimate of the Armenian patriarch at Constantinople that of the 1,200,000 Armenian inhabitants of Turkey before the war, there remain not more than 200,000. The residue, the "Mshak" says, may disappear before the end of the war on account of the Turkish policy of extermination.

The figures of the "Mshak" are based on the estimate of the Armenian patriarch at Constantinople that of the 1,200,000 Armenian inhabitants of Turkey before the war, there remain not more than 200,000. The residue, the "Mshak" says, may disappear before the end of the war on account of the Turkish policy of extermination.

The figures of the "Mshak" are based on the estimate of the Armenian patriarch at Constantinople that of the 1,200,000 Armenian inhabitants of Turkey before the war, there remain not more than 200,000. The residue, the "Mshak" says, may disappear before the end of the war on account of the Turkish policy of extermination.

The figures of the "Mshak" are based on the estimate of the Armenian patriarch at Constantinople that of the 1,200,000 Armenian inhabitants of Turkey before the war, there remain not more than 200,000. The residue, the "Mshak" says, may disappear before the end of the war on account of the Turkish policy of extermination.

The figures of the "Mshak" are based on the estimate of the Armenian patriarch at Constantinople that of the 1,200,000 Armenian inhabitants of Turkey before the war, there remain not more than 200,000. The residue, the "Mshak" says, may disappear before the end of the war on account of the Turkish policy of extermination.

The figures of the "Mshak" are based on the estimate of the Armenian patriarch at Constantinople that of the 1,200,000 Armenian inhabitants of Turkey before the war, there remain not more than 200,000. The residue, the "Mshak" says, may disappear before the end of the war on account of the Turkish policy of extermination.

The figures of the "Mshak" are based on the estimate of the Armenian patriarch at Constantinople that of the 1,200,000 Armenian inhabitants of Turkey before the war, there remain not more than 200,000. The residue, the "Mshak" says, may disappear before the end of the war on account of the Turkish policy of extermination.

The figures of the "Mshak" are based on the estimate of the Armenian patriarch at Constantinople that of the 1,200,000 Armenian inhabitants of Turkey before the war, there remain not more than 200,000. The residue, the "Mshak" says, may disappear before the end of the war on account of the Turkish policy of extermination.

The figures of the "Mshak" are based on the estimate of the Armenian patriarch at Constantinople that of the 1,200,000 Armenian inhabitants of Turkey before the war, there remain not more than 200,000. The residue, the "Mshak" says, may disappear before the end of the war on account of the Turkish policy of extermination.

The figures of the "Mshak" are based on the estimate of the Armenian patriarch at Constantinople that of the 1,200,000 Armenian inhabitants of Turkey before the war, there remain not more than 200,000. The residue, the "Mshak" says, may disappear before the end of the war on account of the Turkish policy of extermination.

The figures of the "Mshak" are based on the estimate of the Armenian patriarch at Constantinople that of the 1,200,000 Armenian inhabitants of Turkey before the war, there remain not more than 200,000. The residue, the "Mshak" says, may disappear before the end of the war on account of the Turkish policy of extermination.

The figures of the "Mshak" are based on the estimate of the Armenian patriarch at Constantinople that of the 1,200,000 Armenian inhabitants of Turkey before the war, there remain not more than 200,000. The residue, the "Mshak" says, may disappear before the end of the war on account of the Turkish policy of extermination.

The figures of the "Mshak" are based on the estimate of the Armenian patriarch at Constantinople that of the 1,200,000 Armenian inhabitants of Turkey before the war, there remain not more than 200,000. The residue, the "Mshak" says, may disappear before the end of the war on account of the Turkish policy of extermination.

The figures of the "Mshak" are based on the estimate of the Armenian patriarch at Constantinople that of the 1,200,000 Armenian inhabitants of Turkey before the war, there remain not more than 200,000. The residue, the "Mshak" says, may disappear before the end of the war on account of the Turkish policy of extermination.

The figures of the "Mshak" are based on the estimate of the Armenian patriarch at Constantinople that of the 1,200,000 Armenian inhabitants of Turkey before the war, there remain not more than 200,000. The residue, the "Mshak" says, may disappear before the end of the war on account of the Turkish policy of extermination.

The figures of the "Mshak" are based on the estimate of the Armenian patriarch at Constantinople that of the 1,200,000 Armenian inhabitants of Turkey before the war, there remain not more than 200,000. The residue, the "Mshak" says, may disappear before the end of the war on account of the Turkish policy of extermination.

The figures of the "Mshak" are based on the estimate of the Armenian patriarch at Constantinople that of the 1,200,000 Armenian inhabitants of Turkey before the war, there remain not more than 200,000. The residue, the "Mshak" says, may disappear before the end of the war on account of the Turkish policy of extermination.

The figures of the "Mshak" are based on the estimate of the Armenian patriarch at Constantinople that of the 1,200,000 Armenian inhabitants of Turkey before the war, there remain not more than 200,000. The residue, the "Mshak" says, may disappear before the end of the war on account of the Turkish policy of extermination.

The figures of the "Mshak" are based on the estimate of the Armenian patriarch at Constantinople that of the 1,200,000 Armenian inhabitants of Turkey before the war, there remain not more than 200,000. The residue, the "Mshak" says, may disappear before the end of the war on account of the Turkish policy of extermination.

The figures of the "Mshak" are based on the estimate of the Armenian patriarch at Constantinople that of the 1,200,000 Armenian inhabitants of Turkey before the war, there remain not more than 200,000. The residue, the "Mshak" says, may disappear before the end of the war on account of the Turkish policy of extermination.

The figures of the "Mshak" are based on the estimate of the Armenian patriarch at Constantinople that of the 1,200,000 Armenian inhabitants of Turkey before the war, there remain not more than 200,000. The residue, the "Mshak" says, may disappear before the end of the war on account of the Turkish policy of extermination.

The figures of the "Mshak" are based on the estimate of the Armenian patriarch at Constantinople that of the 1,200,000 Armenian inhabitants of Turkey before the war, there remain not more than 200,000. The residue, the "Mshak" says, may disappear before the end of the war on account of the Turkish policy of extermination.

The figures of the "Mshak" are based on the estimate of the Armenian patriarch at Constantinople that of the 1,200,000 Armenian inhabitants of Turkey before the war, there remain not more than 200,000. The residue, the "Mshak" says, may disappear before the end of the war on account of the Turkish policy of extermination.

The figures of the "Mshak" are based on the estimate of the Armenian patriarch at Constantinople that of the 1,200,000 Armenian inhabitants of Turkey before the war, there remain not more than 200,000. The residue, the "Mshak" says, may disappear before the end of the war on account of the Turkish policy of extermination.

The figures of the "Mshak" are based on the estimate of the Armenian patriarch at Constantinople that of the 1,200,000 Armenian inhabitants of Turkey before the war, there remain not more than 200,000. The residue, the "Mshak" says, may disappear before the end of the war on account of the Turkish policy of extermination.

The figures of the "Mshak" are based on the estimate of the Armenian patriarch at Constantinople that of the 1,200,000 Armenian inhabitants of Turkey before the war, there remain not more than 200,000. The residue, the "Mshak" says, may disappear before the end of the war on account of the Turkish policy of extermination.

The figures of the "Mshak" are based on the estimate of the Armenian patriarch at Constantinople that of the 1,200,000 Armenian inhabitants of Turkey before the war, there remain not more than 200,000. The residue, the "Mshak" says, may disappear before the end of the war on account of the Turkish policy of extermination.

The figures of the "Mshak" are based on the estimate of the Armenian patriarch at Constantinople that of the 1,200,000 Armenian inhabitants of Turkey before the war, there remain not more than 200,000. The residue, the "Mshak" says, may disappear before the end of the war on account of the Turkish policy of extermination.

The figures of the "Mshak" are based on the estimate of the Armenian patriarch at Constantinople that of the 1,200,000 Armenian inhabitants of Turkey before the war, there remain not more than 200,000. The residue, the "Mshak" says, may disappear before the end of the war on account of the Turkish policy of extermination.

The figures of the "Mshak" are based on the estimate of the Armenian patriarch at Constantinople that of the 1,200,000 Armenian inhabitants of Turkey before the war, there remain not more than 200,000. The residue, the "Mshak" says, may disappear before the end of the war on account of the Turkish policy of extermination.

The figures of the "Mshak" are based on the estimate of the Armenian patriarch at Constantinople that of the 1,200,000 Armenian inhabitants of Turkey before the war, there remain not more than 200,000. The residue, the "Mshak" says, may disappear before the end of the war on account of the Turkish policy of extermination.

The figures of the "Mshak" are based on the estimate of the Armenian patriarch at Constantinople that of the 1,200,000 Armenian inhabitants of Turkey before the war, there remain not more than 200,000. The residue, the "Mshak" says, may disappear before the end of the war on account of the Turkish policy of extermination.

The figures of the "Mshak" are based on the estimate of the Armenian patriarch at Constantinople that of the 1,200,000 Armenian inhabitants of Turkey before the war, there remain not more than 200,000. The residue, the "Mshak" says, may disappear before the end of the war on account of the Turkish policy of extermination.

The figures of the "Mshak" are based on the estimate of the Armenian patriarch at Constantinople that of the 1,200,000 Armenian inhabitants of Turkey before the war, there remain not more than 200,000. The residue, the "Mshak" says, may disappear before the end of the war on account of the Turkish policy of extermination.

The figures of the "Mshak" are based on the estimate of the Armenian patriarch at Constantinople that of the 1,200,000 Armenian inhabitants of Turkey before the war, there remain not more than 200,000. The residue, the "Mshak" says, may disappear before the end of the war on account of the Turkish policy of extermination.

The figures of the "Mshak" are based on the estimate of the Armenian patriarch at Constantinople that of the 1,200,000 Armenian inhabitants of Turkey before the war, there remain not more than 200,000. The residue, the "Mshak" says, may disappear before the end of the war on account of the Turkish policy of extermination.

The figures of the "Mshak" are based on the estimate of the Armenian patriarch at Constantinople that of the 1,200,000 Armenian inhabitants of Turkey before the war, there remain not more than 200,000. The residue, the "Mshak" says, may disappear before the end of the war on account of the Turkish policy of extermination.

The figures of the "Mshak" are based on the estimate of the Armenian patriarch at Constantinople that of the 1,200,000 Armenian inhabitants of Turkey before the war, there remain not more than 200,000. The residue, the "Mshak" says, may disappear before the end of the war on account of the Turkish policy of extermination.

The figures of the "Mshak" are based on the estimate of the Armenian patriarch at Constantinople that of the 1,200,000 Armenian inhabitants of Turkey before the war, there remain not more than 200,000. The residue, the "Mshak" says, may disappear before the end of the war on account of the Turkish policy of extermination.

The figures of the "Mshak" are based on the estimate of the Armenian patriarch at Constantinople that of the 1,200,000 Armenian inhabitants of Turkey before the war, there remain not more than 200,000. The residue, the "Mshak" says, may disappear before the end of the war on account of the Turkish policy of extermination.

The figures of the "Mshak" are based on the estimate of the Armenian patriarch at Constantinople that of the 1,200,000 Armenian inhabitants of Turkey before the war, there remain not more than 200,000. The residue, the "Mshak" says, may disappear before the end of the war on account of the Turkish policy of extermination.